

Health Risk Management System*

Certification is a process that aims to ensure an organisation is complying with specifications through validation by an independent third party.

Certification of the Health Risk Management System is carried out by defining a three-year audit programme to assess the system's performance.

Achieving certification requires:

- › Governance
- › Information for personnel and the general public
- › Implementation of a management system
- › Definition and application of operational protocols for managing health risk
- › Regular audits

WHO FOR?

All companies that receive people at their premises, whether staff, partners, customers or users:

- › Hotels, camping sites
- › Service-sector companies
- › Student halls of residence
- › Stores
- › Distribution chains
- › Etc.

WHY CERTIFY YOUR HEALTH RISK MANAGEMENT SYSTEM?

- › To ensure your health risk management is robust.
- › To reassure staff, customers and partners and demonstrate the performance of your health risk management.
- › To preserve your health risk management through control over contamination sources, prevention measures, management procedures when contamination occurs, and a continuous improvement process.

- › A trusted partner

CERTIFICATION PROCESS*

AUDITING PROCESS STAGES

Initial audit

We audit your management system to check that your policy, objectives and targets have been effectively communicated, and that your continuous improvement plans and procedures are working in practice.

Surveillance audits

After you have achieved certification, we undertake regular ongoing audits of your MS to ensure that it is being maintained and that it continues to meet the objectives of your organisation and the expectations of your customers.

Re-certification audit

The certificate is valid for three years. A re-certification audit is conducted before expiry of the certificate.

* Non-contractual

The on-going surveillance is governed by the contract issued during the initial audit.
